

Dr. Kim Fooyontphanich

Senior Project Manager, Livelihoods Fund, Thailand

Dr. Kim Fooyontphanich, a senior project manager for the Livelihoods Fund from France, leads the project across Southeast Asia. He also serves as a consultant for the Asian Development Bank. Within his diverse portfolio of projects, Dr. Kim has demonstrated expertise in managing various aspects of the project lifecycle, from field operations to policy development.

With over 15 years of experience, Dr. Kim has established himself as a distinguished agriculture specialist. His expertise encompasses a wide range of activities, including laboratory research, practical farming techniques, and policy formulation.

Throughout his career, Dr. Kim has actively participated in numerous development and scientific initiatives in the fields of agriculture and social development across Europe, East Asia, and the Great Mekong Region. He has been a key contributor to these projects, providing valuable insights and ensuring their successful implementation.