Dr. Thidathip Wongsurawat

Division of Medical Bioinformatics, Faculty of Medicine Siriraj Hospital,
Mahidol University, Thailand

Thidathip Wongsurawat, Ph.D. (Tip), earned her doctorate from Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. She currently leads the Division of Food and Medical Bioinformatics at the Faculty of Medicine, Siriraj Hospital, Mahidol University, Thailand. As the Head of the Oxford Nanopore Centre of Excellence in Bangkok, she specializes in the real-world implementation of nanopore sequencing technology across food and medical fields, driving advancements in precision medicine, genomic healthcare, and food safety applications.