

Asst. Prof. Pol. Maj. Dr. Katiya Ivanovitch

Deputy Dean of Administration and International Affairs
Director, Global Health Program
Faculty of Public Health, Thammasat University, Thailand

Dr. Katiya Ivanovitch is a public health scholar and academic leader specializing in public health nutrition, disease prevention, and health promotion. She currently serves as Deputy Dean of Administration and International Affairs and Director of the Global Health Program at the Faculty of Public Health, Thammasat University, where she has held multiple senior administrative roles since 2018, including Deputy Dean of Academic Affairs and Research.

Dr. Ivanovitch earned her Doctor of Public Health (Dr.P.H.) in Public Health Nutrition from Mahidol University in 2014, following a Master's degree in Public Health (2007) and a Bachelor's degree in Nursing Science (1996). Her professional background combines teaching, research, and policy consulting in areas such as nutrition assessment, chronic disease prevention, and elderly health.

She has been actively involved in numerous national and international research projects funded by leading Thai agencies (NRCT, PMUC, NHSO) and regional bodies such as AUN-HP and Thai Health Promotion Foundation. Her projects focus on healthy aging, health system models for the elderly, physical activity among youth, and food innovation for clinical nutrition.

Dr. Ivanovitch has authored and co-authored over 20 peer-reviewed publications in national and international journals and has contributed to academic books and training manuals for Thailand's Ministry of Public Health. She also serves as a reviewer for national journals and a consultant for several public health committees, including the National Health Committee for Thailand's Health Zone 4.

Her ongoing mission is to advance public health education, nutrition literacy, and evidence-based policy development to improve health outcomes across populations in Thailand and Southeast Asia.