

Dr. Victoria Alday-Sanz

National Aquaculture Group of Saudi Arabia (Naqua)
Saudi Arabia

Victoria Alday-Sanz is a veterinarian with an MSc and PhD from Stirling University. She has worked for over 30 years on diverse aspects of shrimp health issues covering diseases, diagnostics, sanitary legislation, health management, development of SPF+SPT stocks and biosecurity. She has collaborated as an expert for international organizations such as FAO, EU, EFSA, WB and OIE as well as with the private sector such as shrimp producers, aquaculture financial and insurance companies worldwide. She has published over 40 papers in peer review journals, over 60 articles in industry magazines, 5 book chapters, is co-author of the CD-rom Diagnosis of Shrimp Diseases and editor of The Shrimp Book. Presently, she is the Director for Biosecurity and Breeding Programs for the National Aquaculture Group of Saudi Arabia (Naqua).