

Dr. Adrián Ochoa-Leyva

Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México
Mexico

Dr. Ochoa obtained his Ph.D. in Biochemical Sciences at the Institute of Biotechnology (IBt) from the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) in 2011. After that, he carried out two postdoctoral stays, one at the National Laboratory of Genomics for Biodiversity in Cinvestav and another at the National Institute of Genomic Medicine (INMEGEN) in Mexico. Additionally, he has carried out two research stays, one at the University of Warwick in the United Kingdom and another at the Institute for Systems Biology in the USA. He is a Principal Investigator in the Department of Molecular Microbiology at the Institute of Biotechnology of UNAM since 2015. His laboratory studies human, shrimp, and environmental microbiomes through metagenomics, metatranscriptomics, and viromics.